

Consultant Advises Belle Glade Location For Hospital

Mr. Richard L. Martin, hospital consultant from Tampa, Florida, stated in a preliminary report to the Hospital Taxpayers League on August 8th that the present site of the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital is the preferable site for new hospital facilities. Mr. Martin, former administrator of several hospitals including Tampa General, has for the past fifteen years specialized in hospital consultation. His investigation into the hospital controversy in this area came as a result of a request by the newly formed Hospital Taxpayers League for an independent and unbiased evaluation by a outside authority. In recommending the present site over the proposed joint site it was noted that the population of the southwest district is presently two to three times that of the northwest district, and growing several times faster, making the present site the closest to the population center; that adequate space for a new hospital and parking area, as well as city water and sewage disposal are already available without cost at the present site; and that the present location is more readily accessible from several main highways, thereby providing faster emergency service for patients. The consultant stated that the medical service now rendered at the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital is of high quality, and that the professional care available to indigent persons and migratory farm labor in the form of maternity, cardiac, and daily health clinics is equal or superior to such services offered in other communities of comparable size. In answer to a direct question regarding the attraction of additional doctors, nurses and specialists in the Glades the consultant stated that he thought the attraction by a joint or separate hospital at the present site would probably be greater than to a joint hospital at the proposed site midway between Belle Glade and Pahokee. He stated that it must be realized that specialized hospital care and the services of highly specialized medical personnel are available to a community only in direct proportion to the size of the community and its ability to pay the higher costs of such services.

We Don't Blame Pahokee -- We Don't Believe Her Arguments

But -- Here They A re !!

On Tuesday, August 21, the freeholders of the entire Glades will vote for or against the building of a new joint hospital facility to serve the western part of Palm Beach County.

After lengthy discussion and a great deal of thought, the board of directors of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce has voted to endorse the joint hospital plan. This article has also been read by the members of the board and approved for publication.

The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce has no selfish motive in this endorsement. They are recommending it solely because they feel it is the best way to give all the people of the Glades adequate hospital service. The Chamber has no desire to, nor will it, enter into any controversy with any other group, pro or con. It is simply the feeling of the board that a joint hospital will serve the needs of the entire Glades area better than two separate hospitals.

We believe that enough evidence has been compiled to show conclusively that a joint hospital will render better service, furnish more and better services, operate more efficiently and effectively than two separate hospitals can possibly do. As to patient cost, we do not see any particular advantage to the joint plan. What we do see, and one of the things we want to emphasize, is that patients will get much better service for the money they are paying.

We are not financial experts and make no pretense at knowing what tax millage rate would be necessary to build and support such a joint hospital as is approved by the freeholders in each district. We do, however, have the figures of those who are expert in these matters, and they tell us it can be built and operated on a millage rate no higher than is now being levied for the two separate hospitals. It is also a distinct possibility it could be lowered.

We are impressed with the logic of the argument that with the small hospital load of the two separate hospitals, it is impossible to provide the best medical and specialist services necessary for treatment of many diseases. The result is that our people with serious ailments are forced to go to distant places to find these specialists. Those who are in a position to know tell us that a hospital with a patient load of 100 or more (as a joint hospital would have) can afford these specialists and services. This would make it possible for all the people in the Glades to have available close at hand medical and surgical care as good as the best. It can be a long, long road to West Palm Beach or elsewhere when you are racing

Jaycee Seat Belt Campaign Planned To Commence Soon

Belle Glade Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced that it is joining the campaign to install safety belts in every motorist's automobile. With mounting pressure from State and National traffic safety officials, the Jaycees feel that this is an opportune time to stress the importance of having and using safety belts, according to committee chairman Gene Chamberlain.

The campaign will be officially launched in Belle Glade Saturday, August 18, 1952. The Jaycee seat belt clinic will be held at the McArthur Dairy on Chozen Road on two Saturdays, August 18th and 20th, beginning at 8 a. m. The belts will be sold for $6.00 and installed free. In an effort to help save lives the Jaycees are sponsoring the project with the belts being sold for a fraction of their normal cost.

Polio Immunization

Fifteen hundred volunteers, plus all doctors and nurses will administer polio immunization on one Sunday under the joint auspices of the County Medical Society and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, according to plans announced Monday night.

Sgt. O. S. "Babin" Oral Sunday is the slogan of this unusual undertaking which seeks to "virtually wipe polio off the map in Palm Beach County," according to Dr. Harold Young, co-chairman for the medical profession.

It is emphasized that the SABBIN vaccine is taken orally—that it is colorless and tasteless, and is taken with a small bit of distilled water, and that anyone from six weeks up make take it with safety, with out regard to other vaccines.

The vaccines have been distributed in other countries to more than 100 million persons, and more than ten million doses have been given in this country, and to communities, without any reported reactions.

The public will be asked to donate 25¢ per dose (there will be three) but those who do not have the quarter will be given the dose.

Funeral Services Held Here Tuesday For Mrs. Bratley

The Glades lost a beloved pioneer in the death, August 4, of Mrs. Antoinette Teller Bratley, 84, who died at Mound Park Hospital, St. Petersburg.

Well known in community and church circles here for many years, Mrs. Bratley and husband Hugh J. moved to St. Petersburg four years ago upon his retirement from Everglades Federal Savings and Loan, to make their home at Sunny Shores Villa, 125 58th Avenue South.

Mrs. Bratley, as Miss Antoinette Moulder, was a native of Silver Lake, Minnesota, and came to the Glades in 1923, as an early land owner with her husband, Robert R. Teller, M.D., who died in 1933. Her profession as a nurse is remembered as being particularly valuable to early settlers here.

As a member of the Methodist Church, her community efforts were mainly devoted to church activities, and as a member of P. E. O.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday at the Community Methodist Church, Belle Glade, with the Reverend T. C. Osteen, Pahokee, and Rev. Walter Cross of Tampa, (Continued On Page Eight)

GOVT. SPENDS — YOU AND I PAY!

Many people are not concerned over big Federal spending for civilian programs. This lethargy is due to the mistaken belief that those in the higher income brackets are paying the freight. Actually, the high incomes provide only a small fraction of income tax revenues — even though the rates, up to 91 percent — come close to confiscation in the top brackets. These extreme rates make average taxpayers feel they are "getting off" easy by contrast.

About 75 cents of every Federal income tax dollar is paid by people with taxable income of $6,000 or less.

And 81 percent of every income tax dollar comes from those whose taxable income is less than $10,000.

High-bracket taxpayers have had it. They can't be squeezed much more.

Corporate taxes, in the end, are paid by consumers — you and me and our neighbor next door.

So, when the Federal spending goes up, make no mistake about it — the tax bill is tolling for us!

July Sales Tax Up Says Ray Green Eastern Strike Costs Fla. Millions

State Comptroller Ray E. Green reported today that the improvement in the economy of the state, which began in January, continued through June, with July sales tax collections totalling $15,057,081.

The comptroller said that while the increase was only 51 percent over the collections for June, it topped the estimate for July by $250,710.

Green pointed out that the collections for the first four months of the year, topped the estimate for July by $250,710.

Recent reports indicate improvement, but the situation no doubt has changed somewhat because of the blow the tourist industry has suffered and is suffering due to the strike against Eastern Airlines.

The announcement that two of Miami Beach's hotels were closed for the summer season due to the strike is regrettable. I know that everyone hopes that the strike will be over by the end of the summer season.

The Comptroller said F. W. Dodge Corp. reported that top

HORNSTEIN'S BOY — By Robert Traver. This is a novel of ideas and ideals in conflict. It brings in to sharp focus the individual responsibility of each of us. It expresses the moral corruption of the individual — the same solid thread that runs through the "Fast Buck" philosophy of some of our greatest corporations. In this great novel are dramatized the forces of good and evil — The potential and the power of "Men and Women of Goodwill" in these United States. The story is of a meeting and its far reaching consequences are the substance of this serious and (at times) hilarious novel.

A GIFT FOR GOMALA by John Baxter proved that official Washington is well supplied with Clay feet — and is a must reading for followers of Alsop, Reston and Lippman, who are looking for comic relief.

What happened in official and unofficial Washington when the small newly independent African nation of Gomala starts trading for a $175,000 state department loan? — There are instant perceptions in the department of state, in the press and senate and at ICA, violent scurrying among lobbyists, diplomats and wheeler-dealers, and people vibrations that carry all the way to the bedrooms in Georgetown. Very good reading.

If books are damp, stand them on end and spread pages out fanwise to air them. Sprinkle pure talc or cornstarch between the leaves to take up the moisture. Leave on for several hours and then brush off. Press leaves together to prevent cracking. A little talc in the areas where books are kept prevents musty odors.

Dear Mister Editor:
I see by the papers where our officials in Washington has approved the use of 14 most items from the nation's stockpile. I was plumb astounded to note that one of the items was 156 million pounds of castor oil.

For nigh on to 70 years, man and boy, I've had a close personal relationship with castor oil but this is the first time I've seen it bottled in pounds instead of bottles or ounces. And I can understand how it might be used to have a few bottles of it put back for an emergency, but 156 million pounds of it would take care of the situation from the beginning of time till eternity. They can't be but one answer, Mister Editor.

Some fellow with a heap of influence in the proper places, may be a fellow like Billie Sol Estes, has had the market cornered on castor beans and has been greasing the Government for a good profit. I aim to write my Congressman immediate and bring this matter up at the next State Saturday night and Ed Doolittle said I might be getting a little hasty in writing my Congressman. Ed allowed as how, now that the Government has fell out with DuPont, General Motors, Standard Oil and them big fellows, it could be that we was aiming to use castor oil for lubricating the war machine in case trouble started. Watch For Mildew On Furnishings

By Mary L. Todd, H. D. A.
During hot humid weather, keep on the lookout for mildew in your home. And if you find it, don't be alarmed, says Miss Mary Todd, Demonstrator in Agent, Mildew can be removed — provided you don't wait until the stain is embedded.

First, remove and brush mildewed furnishings. Do this out-of-doors, if you can, to prevent scattering the spores through the house. Are a vacuum cleaner will do a good job indoors, without moving the piece. Then sun and air the piece to kill the mold and stop growth.

If upholstery or drapery fabric is mildewed, wipe mildewed area off with a cloth dipped into denatured alcohol or an alcohol solution. Wring cloth almost dry. If this does not remove the mildew stain, dip a cloth into equal parts of denatured alcohol or solvent and cold water. Sponge the affected area. Soft brush may help. Dry the article thoroughly.

"YOU'RE ROCKING THE LAKE"

The old adage, "Sit down, you're rocking the boat," is rapidly changing to "Slow down you're rocking the lake."

A few years ago you could take your family on a picnic to a quiet spot on the shore of a lake, go swimming with comfort and safety if you kept your eyes on the youngsters. It was fun, after an enjoyable meal, to lay on the river bank or lake shore and enjoy the quiet, restful scene and forget your troubles.

You could usually find such a spot within a short distance from your home, even if you lived in a large city. There were public beaches at nearby lakes and small boats were usually available if you wished to try a few hours fishing in a quiet spot or you could cast a long the shore.

Nowadays I find most of my old favorite picnic and recreational areas taken over by a different class of outdoor folk. The call of the meadow lark or quail and the hum of busy insects or the chorus of frogs has been drowned out by the roar of highspeed motors. The former calm and quiet waters of your lovely lake are now a turmoil of frothy wakes as dozens of speed boat enthusiasts vie with each other in creating a mad and crazy pattern on the surface waters, dragging skiers hither and yon.

You will also find that many of the best breeding grounds for fish have been invaded by motor boats and aquaplaners.

The water accident tolls are going up as more and more people, many of them inexperienced, take to the waterways in boats of every kind and description. Not only is this true in Florida, but all over the nation.

The current issue of the Reader's Digest carries an article entitled "Danger Rides in Small Boats" by Alfred Balk, pointing out the need for stronger legislation for the protection of both boatmen and the public. Some states are meeting the situation with zoned areas for the protection of swimmers and fishermen.

So far only one state has inaugurated drivers' licenses and registration for boatmen. While the Coast Guard and Power Squadron give courses in small boat handling, it is voluntary and only a few people take advantage of them.

Since Florida is a national playground we can expect steadily increased boat traffic on our lakes, streams, and waterways as well as more skindiving and water skiing.

It isn't too soon to begin thinking about constructive legislation and zoning for safety of individuals as well as preservation of certain recreation areas.

The speed boat is fast becoming a nuisance and a real danger on some of our more populated inland waters by youngsters with no sense of the responsibility who race high powered outboards in areas where bathers are endangered and property damage is easily caused by careless boatmen.

The coming legislature would do well to give the matter some thought before the loss of life and property damage becomes a serious problem as the number of watercraft increases in all areas.

The Twist Is Fashionable In Words?

'None Are,' 'Dat Is,' 'A Number Are'

It's becoming the fashion today to do the twist with words, says Dr. Bill Freeman, Stetson University associate professor of business administration.

In an article entitled "What Are They Doing to Our Mother Tongue?" in the summer issue of the Stetson Letter, Freeman spells out his contempt for the new "twisted" English. Webster's new Third International Dictionary because it no longer shows spelling and pronunciation preferences and because it substitutes popular usage for scholarly authority. "English Composition" is now called "Communications" by college catalogs, Freeman states and courses once called simply "Advertising" are now called "Communication for Business."

In short, everybody's contorting the simplest terms.

The last straw is Webster's dictionary. Whereas the Second Edition of Webster's used to tell how to spell, pronounce, and understand the word looked up, the new edition supplies scholarly authority with democratic usage, says Freeman. "Today apparently, you can't be sure about a word until it has been subjected to a phonetic, semantic, and syntactical Gallup poll," he declares.

"If common usage determines what is correct in grammar," Freeman continues, "we should all be saying, 'None are,' and 'Dat is,' as well as 'A number are.'"

Sure-Fire Method To Light Charcoal

"Aw, c'mon Dad, we've started an outdoor barbecue!"

Al Bogner, employed by American Oil Company at its Whiting Refinery, somewhat frantically redoubling his efforts to ignite charcoal for the family's set, is no longer tormented by the hunger howls of his youngsters. He's found a "foolproof, sure-fire" method of safely and quickly igniting charcoal.

Bogner's homemade updraft incinerator, which is made out of an empty four-quart Perma-tube oil can, lights all of the coals evenly and at the same time, producing a perfect bed of burning nuggets for outdoor cooking. The entire ignition process takes 15 minutes at the most.

Directions for making and using the furnace, which is guaranteed to eliminate the "slow-burn" of charcoaling — and of the chef — follows:

MAKE YOUR OWN CHARCOAL STARTER. TO MAKE

1. Take an empty four-quart motor oil can — that is what it takes for a normal 1,000-mile oil change — and cut out the top and bottom.
2. Punch out ventilator holes all round the bottom of can with beer can opener. The portions which have been punched out can be bent downward to form little legs for the furnace's base.
3. Make a handle for the furnace by placing wire bail at top of can.

TO USE:

1. Place furnace in center of charcoal burner or brazier and put wad of newspaper in the bottom of can.
2. Now fill furnace with charcoal, all the way to the top.
3. Light at bottom through vents.

4. When fire is going good (in less than 15 minutes), grasp wire bail with pair of pliers and lift furnace off burner.
5. Spread out the charcoal for an even, hot fire.

Traffic Signs Inadequate

State highway officials have been asked to erect adequate warning signs as the result of a specialized study in highway safety.

The survey does not put all the blame on motorists for the tragic highway toll. It shows that a large number of accidents are due in part to: (1) The absence of adequate signs; (2) wrongly worded signs; (3) poorly placed or obstructed signs; and (4) signs that are so small they are not compelling enough to achieve awareness of road hazards.

Poorly marked highways make it difficult to distinguish dangerous intersections in time to slow down or signal intention of turning.

"Evidence shows that drivers react most favorably to large and prominent signs placed approximately 100 yards from intersections. It was noted that signs should clearly spell out the names of intersections a motorist is nearing and inform him to approach with caution be prepared to stop or avoid passing."

The report is critical of existing "Yield the Right of Way" signs.

"There are glaring defects in such existing signs. They fail to make many drivers sufficiently cautious when placed close to an intersection as there is not sufficient time to slow down."

"The signs say 'Yield,' but fail to explain in what way. The result is that drivers speed through these signs in excess of 50 miles an hour. A possible revision of these signs could read 'Yield the Right of Way; Speed Limit 25 Miles per Hour'."

The resolution also noted there is an "encouraging trend" toward greater uniformity of interstate road signs, and suggests that the Department of Roads take cognizance of the fact that "it is both unjust and unrealistic for the police to attach total blame and negligence upon unsuspecting drivers who are caught in accident traps when it is clearly the responsibility of the Department to see that drivers are adequately warned of all road hazards."

"Hibiscus In Florida" Available For Asking

Hibiscus are opposite from bargain-store clothes — they don't fade with the summer sun.

To insure that your mid-summer garden will not take on a faded look, plant one of the new giant-blooming hibiscus now available from your local nurseryman. Color from these flowers will sparkle during the hottest days.

The new varieties, Plush and Plum, were developed by Dr. S. E. McFadden, Jr., ornamental horticulturist with the University of Florida Agricultural Experiment Station.

Plush and Plum have been judged as the most eye-appealing blossoms from a group of 6,000 plants representing 30 different hybrid crosses.

Fine hairs cover the scarlet 8-inch petals of Plush, giving the flowers a velvet-like appearance. Crimson petals contrast with white anthers and white, velvety stigma pads in the single, 6-inch flower of the Plum variety.

The new hybrids flower freely, producing flowers from June to October. The peak season of showy color is mid-summer, when few other plants are able to muster color. Each flower lasts one day and remains open almost to sundown.

The plants reach 5 to 8 feet in height and are well-suited to landscape schemes.

The new hibiscus varieties grow well in sunny locations. They thrive in wet soils and tolerate flooding. This makes them ideal plants for lake-side use.

Gardeners with high sandy lots can plant hibiscus near drippy faucets. Those who don't have leaky plumbing can keep their summer mallows happily blooming all summer with a soaker-type hose.

Developing the Plush and the Plum was the first attempt to improve perennial hibiscus for Florida gardeners. McFadden used perennial hibiscus varieties suitable for growth in this state and the Southeast.

Hibiscus of the perennial type comes up year after year. The top growth dies to the ground in the fall, and the plant remains dormant during the winter. The roots send out new shoots in the spring.

Such plants can survive cold weather, which is unlike the woody Orinetal hibiscus now common in Florida gardens. Perennial hibiscus have been grown in this country for over 100 years, but mostly in the northern states.

Plants from out-of-state have not grown well in Florida. Therefore, the University researcher is seeking to breed plants that will thrive here.

In hunting for a new look in hibiscus, Dr. McFadden keeps only those plants that tolerate a wide range of soil conditions, including moisture and pH.

The new hybrids have been designated as perennial hibiscus — Gator hybrid series 1. A second series of releases will soon be chosen from another group of varieties now under test.

Future hibiscus projects at the University include seeking new plants that will extend the color range of the flowers, produce different flower forms, and develop different growth habits of the plants.

If the new varieties are not available yet at your local nursery, then plant one of the old stand-by varieties.

SEARCHING EYES.
BROKEN HEART.
My eyes, trained for so long a time, Keep searching for the sight of you.
They can't believe that rapture of mine Is gone, and so is happiness, too.
They keep looking everywhere For hazel eyes that can really talk.
For the golden downy crown — you wear And the lovely way you walk.
These stubborn eyes just won't believe What's in my broken heart; That they're not here, you had to leave.
I can't bear us being apart! pd adv.

Want To Hunt Fla's. Big Black Bear?

Applications are now being received from Florida hunters who wish to participate in the managed bear hunts in the state of Florida. National Forest, according to A. D. Aldrich, director, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Florida black bears are rated as the largest in the nation; and because of their early retreat to impassable swamp territory, they are extremely difficult to hunt, even with excellent dogs.

The Osceola National Forest, in Columbia and Baker counties in Northeast Florida, and the Apalachicola National Forest in Liberty County in Northwest Florida, provides some of the best bear hunting in Florida.

Applications for the Apalachicola Bear Hunts should be filed with the Regional Manager, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, P. O. Box 376, Panama City, Florida, prior to 11:00 a. m. August 30. Hunters who wish to participate in the Osceola Bear Hunts should file application with the Regional Manager, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, P. O. Box 308, Lake City, Florida, prior to 11:00 a. m. August 31. All applications must be accompanied by a check to cover permit cost.

Regulations for the special bear hunts provide a total of 14 managed three-day hunts in the Osceola National Forest, September 24 through November 10. The 8 managed hunts in the Apalachicola National Forest will be held October 1 through October 27.

Each three-day hunt will be limited to not more than 17 people, except upon approval of the hunt supervisor. Each group must obtain a $50.00 party hunt permit and each person in the party must also possess a permit cost.

Little Judy Ann York "First Baby" To Arrive At New Canaveral Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. York were delighted and proud of the fanfare given their new grand child... their 17th... whose picture appeared in three leading dailies this week.

The young Miss Judy Ann, has the distinction of being the first to arrive at the new Cape Canaveral Beach Hospital. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo York, formerly of Belle Glade, now living at 1461 Bermuda, Merritt Island.

The parents said they had been watching the progress of the hospital closely with the hope that it would be completed for the event. Mrs. York, a registered nurse, reportedly already has her mind set on working at the hospital, York reported.

The parents were presented with special birth certificate bound in white a leather folder and given a personal touch by having the baby's footprints and mother's thumb prints stamped on the back of the unofficial document.

Judy Ann, who arrived at 10:43 a. m. Friday, August 3, was released with her mother four days later to join sister Debra Sue, 6, and brother Deno Theo, 3, at their home.

This gives us nine girls and eight boys," the proud and happy grandmother York, who resides in Belle Glade, boasted.

More Sugar Jobs Than Sugar Men — 8,000 Cutters Needed For Harvest

By J. Winfield Mooley, Jr.

Starting this fall there will be more jobs available around the Southern Shore of Lake Okechobee than there are qualified people to fill them.

I am speaking, of course, of the labor required to man our tremendously expanded sugar industry. I use the word OUR advisedly because everyone living in the area will in some way feel its impact.

At least four new really large sugar mills will be in operation this winter. These, are over and above the 4 large mills in operation last year and several small ones that are set to grind either sugar or syrup.

Before these mills can grind the first stalk, however, this cane must be delivered to the mills and this will really take some doing.

There is now over 125,000 acres of sugar cane planted in our area. This cane will be ready to cut next winter if it is reliably estimated that it will require over 8,000 cane cutters to harvest this crop.

This cutting sugar cane is hard work. Since World War II practically all cane cutting has been done by off-shore labor.

However, this type of labor is not ideal for many reasons and

Buckner Pitches No-Hit Baseball

When your record's perfect in YOUR league, that's IT!

And when teammates "do their stuff" to keep your record perfect, that's teamwork!

Eddie Buckner, 16, a three-year resident of Belle Glade returns to Belle Glade from his usual summer visit to grandparents in Middleboro, Ky.

With the record of pitching a NO-HIT ball game in a contest between Middleboro and Jenkins, Ky.

One opponent reached first on a technical interference decision, when Buckner's catcher tipped an opponent's bat, but he got ambitious and was trapped for an out; two men hit the ball to the infield, with an out credited to the first baseman and an assist to the shortstop when he flipped a grounder to first.

Eighteen opponents "waited the breeze" trying to hit Eddie's curves, fast, slow, up and down pitches, and that deserves to be "written in the book" anywhere.

Eddie's teammates pitched home eighteen times, in support of his work.

Know sumpin? When you see Eddie stop and shake his hand, tell Eddie you're proud of him, and don't forget the trapping of the one man who got on base, and the work of the shortstop and first-baseman.

six months of 1962 has been 26 percent less than slaughtered in the same months of last year.

The number of cattle slaughtered is almost exactly the same as last year. Trucks hauling calves out of the state have returned to the slaughter.

Slaughter buyers regret that it is not possible to get substantial supplies at South Florida markets.

Seven Lake Boys Join Air Force
Seven local youths enlist in Air Force during July: Charles D. Sullivan, 1516 N. W. Avenue "G", Belle Glade, Douglas E. Hood, 400 N. W. 8th Street, Belle Glade, William R. Champion, General Delivery, South Bay, Walter L. Leathlean, Box 24, Canal Point, enlisted in the Air Force during the month of July, 1962 at Miami, Florida. After enlistment ceremonies were completed, all seven were flown from Miami to Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Texas where they are presently undergoing Air Force basic military training.

Sergeant Gautier, the local Air Force Recruiter from West Palm Beach stated that his office has a great number of enlistments in all aptitude areas for the month of August 1962. Persons interested in the Air Force should contact him on his weekly visits to the Selective Service Office in Belle Glade from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. each Tuesday or write: USAF Recruiting Office, Room 208, P. O. Box 782, West Palm Beach, Florida for information without obligation.

100,000 Acres Misplaced Taxwise!

The 100,000 acres sought to be removed from the NW and added to the SW District, will pay for '62, $15,000 in taxes to the NW District.

In '63 the taxes will amount to approximately $37,500.

These lands were included in the NW District by legislature without consideration of landowners, and it has contributed for 13 years to the Pahokee Hospital, without benefit.

We the undersigned,

OWNERS OF LAND

in the southern area of the

NW PALM BEACH COUNTY

HOSPITAL DISTRICT

declare our desire to remove our lands from the

NW Palm Beach County Hospital District and INCLUDE THEM in the

SW PALM BEACH COUNTY

HOSPITAL DISTRICT

so that MONIES COLLECTED FOR HOSPITAL purposes will be USED for the benefit of the citizens using the lands taxed.

We declare our belief that the

should, at this time,

PROVIDE HOSPITAL NEEDS, FOR ITSELF WITHIN IT'S OWN DISTRICT.
